

2009 Multicultural Undergraduate Internships in Los Angeles County

The Getty Foundation has offered funding to more than 81 Los Angeles-area museums and visual arts organizations for multicultural undergraduate internships during summer 2009.

The internships are intended specifically for outstanding students who are members of groups currently underrepresented in these professions: individuals of African American, Asian, Latino/Hispanic, Native American, and Pacific Islander descent.

Eligibility for the internships is limited to currently enrolled undergraduates who reside or attend college in Los Angeles County, will have completed at least one semester of college by June 2009 and/or who will complete their undergraduate degree by September 1, 2009. Candidates can be sought from all areas of undergraduate study and are not required to have demonstrated a previous commitment to the visual arts.

Below is a list of organizations offering internship positions for the summer of 2009. Position titles and organization descriptions are included. If you are interested in applying for any of the positions below, contact the organizations directly using the information provided. Good luck!

18th Street Arts Center

18th Street Arts Center is a nonprofit dedicated to the advancement of contemporary art and culture as expressed through artists working with issues of social justice, community, and diversity. 18th Street Arts Center supports the work of individual artists and nonprofit arts organizations and fosters the public's engagement with spectrum of approaches to contemporary ideas that reflects the cultural richness of the region. Focusing on financial and technical support of the creative projects by California artists, 18th Street maintains four programs that reflect its mission: a Residency Program, an International Artist-in-Residence Program, and a Public Events and Presenting Program.

Institute of Cultural Inquiry

The Institute of Cultural Inquiry (ICI) is a small but ambitious non-profit arts and education organization located in West Los Angeles. Since 1991, the ICI has explored the role of visuality in imagining, perpetrating and perpetuating the intangible and ever-changing phenomena we call "culture." ICI sponsors displays, symposia, workshops and performances and provides numerous opportunities for both the artist fabricator and curious spectator of visual culture. ICI also maintains an active publishing program. Searching for Sebald: Photography After W. G. Sebald, was published in 2007.

In 2010, the Institute of Cultural Inquiry (ICI) will publish a pictorial and critical history of alternative art spaces in Los Angeles from 1985-2010. During the last 25 years, the number of non-profit art organizations in Los Angeles has multiplied exponentially. This graphically innovative book will utilize photographic documentation, historical ephemera and interviews to chronicle this locally rich and internationally relevant history.

Museum of Jurassic Technology

The Museum of Jurassic Technology on the surface closely resembles a traditional museum of natural history; however, the exhibits are possessed of a subtly unnatural quality and appear to chronicle a world that is at once familiar yet unfamiliar to the visitor. The Museum's mission is to lead audiences to new understandings of the human potential to create and innovate through illusory installations that reflect the aesthetics and practices of early museums, as well as the exhibition of mature artists who have remained unrecognized due to the unusual nature of their artwork and ideas.
