Newsletter: New records in the Getty Vocabularies and other news For the period January-March, 2025

Greetings from the Getty Vocabulary Program (GVP), vocab@getty.edu

News: Our Los Angeles area continues to recover from the January wildfires. The Getty facilities, art, and library collections were not damaged. The Getty Center has been open to staff and visitors for a few months. The Getty Villa is still closed to the public, as the surrounding neighborhood recovers; the Villa anticipates opening in a few months.

News about data releases: We are launching a multi-year project to update the technical infrastructure of the Getty Vocabularies. As part of this work, we are retiring some service offerings, starting with the Relational Tables and XML downloads, and the XML Web Services at the end of 2025. A roadmap and transition plan to support the community during this change will be available in several months. If you use any of these services, please contact Mark Pyzyk at MPyzyk@getty.edu to share your use case.

News about CDWA: Categories for the Description of Works of Art (CDWA) has been redesigned, revised, and made easier to navigate in a Quire application. You can see the improvements at this link <https://www.getty.edu/publications/categories-description-works-art/>

News about ITWG: For news about the recent ITWG (International Terminology Working Group) meetings, please see this link: <https://www.getty.edu/research/tools/vocabularies/training.html#itwg>

Vocabulary Work: At the Getty Vocabulary Program, during the past quarter we have been accepting contributions and processing data for publication. See our list of contributors. We have also been involved in projects at the broader Getty and in outside community outreach, including the following: delivering presentations and training (all); working on the committee revising ISO-25964-1 (thesaurus standard) (Patricia); and serving as Acting Chair of CIDOC (ICOM - Documentation) (Jon). We have begun planning with Getty Digital for our new systems and Web site, with a primary goal to ensure that the Vocabularies remain relevant and thriving over the next decades.

Vocabulary users: Getty Vocabularies remain the most heavily used resources on the Getty Research Institute online pages. In the map below, you can see the distribution of our users globally for this quarter. This map represents users of our online search interface, higher than last quarter: around 631,000 page views from around 42,000 unique users for this quarter. Not counted here are the users who access the Vocabularies via LOD and other data formats, or who access the Vocabularies from vendors' systems or other Web sites that post the Getty Vocabularies.

OpenRefine reconciliation service: Would you like to clean messy data and reconcile your terminology to the Getty Vocabularies' records? Consider the helpful OpenRefine Reconciliation Service, which has received improvements some months ago: 1) The displays for matched results, particularly for TGN, have been improved to allow you to more easily disambiguate among results. 2) A "data extend feature" was added a few months ago, allowing users to grab additional fielded information from Vocabulary records, based on the reconciled term/record. For example, if you're reconciling ULAN names, you could also grab the variant terms in a separate field, biographies, roles, and nationality/cultures. See <https://www.getty.edu/research/tools/vocabularies/obtain/openrefine.html> .

SPARQL: Would you like to access the rich data of the Vocabularies via over 90 analytical sample queries? Please visit the SPARQL end point here: <http://vocab.getty.edu/doc/queries/>.

Contributing: What terminology and associated information may be contributed to the Getty Vocabularies? See scope of AAT, scope of ULAN, scope of TGN, scope of CONA, scope of IA. If you represent an institution interested in making contributions, please learn about the Letter of Agreement and the process for proposing contributions here: <https://www.getty.edu/research/tools/vocabularies/contribute.html> . If you represent a scholarly project or are an expert who is collecting vocabulary data that you would like to share with the larger community, please contact us about a possible contribution at vocab@getty.edu . Contributions are considered based on our capacity, mission, and priorities.

January-March 2023

Greetings from the Getty Vocabulary Program. In this quarter, processing of contributions included the following: In AAT, we continued processing of the CHIN contribution including French terms; added ATTCAT contribution for Chinese architecture terms; added contributions from AATA for GCI; made edits for the Dutch translation; added terms for the Dutch textile project; added Arabic contribution from the AIUla project. In ULAN we added contributions from Getty Conservation Institute (GCI); continued processing of the RKD artist contribution; checked information for LGBTQ artists in ULAN; added Indian artists from the O-Foundation; worked on processing of GRI Special Collections contributions for the Szeemann collection; worked extensively with correcting names and other data in ULAN for East Asian artists; processed artists from the BWR (Built Works Registry) contribution to CONA. For TGN, we added records from NGA for the nation of Canada; completed the swap-out of place names in TGN that are derogatory and considered “avoid use” terms; processed place names from the BWR contribution to CONA. In CONA, we did extensive processing of the BWR contribution (from BWR members Avery, ARTstor, GRI, AIIIS, Bryn Mawr, Princeton, Cornell, Harvard, Blair Bloom, HCAP, LoC CAS, SAHARA, UCSD, WMF, UTLong, ArtOnFile), notably for rock-cut structures, temples, university and other public buildings. For IA, terms were added from the BWR contribution to CONA, and others.

In other news: We conducted several presentations, meetings, and papers on topics of diversity, including at the OCLC Cataloging Community Meeting. Making the Vocabularies more multilingual, multicultural, diverse, unbiased, and inclusive remains one of our primary goals. On other topics, presentations included training #2 for cataloging using CDWA and Getty Vocabularies for the Louvre Abu Dhabi, focused on prints, manuscripts, photographs, and drawings. We presented at the subject analysis committee (SAC) of ALA. We investigated working with contributors to update tribal names and other multicultural terminology. One of us (Jon) continued work as an officer in CIDOC and as a member of ISKO. We drafted a mapping of AAT, ULAN and TGN to MARC authorities, with the hope to eventually provide a conversion from one of the regular Vocabulary releases to MARC format, to serve implementers and other users who require MARC. In the arena of metadata, with colleagues at GRI, we are undertaking a study to improve metadata communication; we hope to demonstrate that the multilingual terms and rich data of the Getty Vocabularies can function as the glue joining varied and separate resources, regardless of language or domain.

and inclusive. We conducted several presentations, meetings, and papers on these topics., including at a NKOS virtual conference on Equity and Inclusion and Getty Vocabularies (https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=7KmDO_mrDOA&t=11s and https://www.getty.edu/research/tools/vocabularies/Vocabs_unbiased_terminology.pdf), and at Consortium of Online Digital Arts regarding using Getty Vocabularies in a federated environment (https://www.getty.edu/research/tools/vocabularies/vocabs_federated_searching.pdf). We met with various potential contributors, with the caveat that contributions may be slowed or in hiatus due to system development in the coming months. Among others, included were projects regarding potential AAT and ULAN contributions in Arabic, German, and Korean. Recently met with WHG re. general historical places' topics, and with a project to contribute historical German place names. We began preliminary discussions for a possible ITWG (International Terminology Group) meeting at Getty, possibly in October 2024. In ongoing Getty initiatives, we participated in Unconscious Bias in the Workplace and Antiracist sessions. Responding to requirements of the user community, we began considering strategies to deliver MARC or a transform from an existing release into MARC, to allow regular Vocabulary contributions to VIAF and ExLibris' Alma Refine. We began designing a survey of Vocabulary users to inform us how Getty Vocabularies are used, and how the content, accessibility, and usability could be improved. We continued work on a metadata triangulation project with the Getty Provenance Index, having the goal to use the Getty Vocabularies at our SPARQL end point to conduct retrieval based on the Vocabularies' rich data, demonstrating how we could advance serious research and discovery in Art History.

IA: Added January-June 2021

Total IA titles/names: [ca. 8,000]

Total existing records augmented this period: 20

Total new records this period: 59, examples below.

GVP did not focus on IA contributions during this period. Almost all new IA contributions here are associated with pre-processing the backlogged files for CONA, particularly the BWR “dedicatees,” which were submitted as associated “people” but are out of scope for ULAN, because they are deities or otherwise not real people. Graduate interns also worked in IA. During this period, GVP has had conversations about contributions to IA, including possible non-Western iconography from the University of Sapienza. IA is a unique resource, a thesaurus, global in scope, with complex relationships and links to the other 4 Getty Vocabularies. It also includes coreferences to other resources such as Iconclass and LOC, to allow interconnections between related materials and related disciplines. See scope of IA. Backlogged files now processed or in-process:

- IA Florentine Codex Initiative, sample records were entered by hand
