Contents

ix  Foreword
xi  Acknowledgments

1  Introduction
   Robin Middleton

The Ruins of the Most Beautiful Monuments of Greece, Historically and Architecturally Considered

Volume One, Which Contains the Ruins of Those Monuments Erected by the Athenians before the End of the Age of Pericles; with an Essay on the History of Architecture, and a Dissertation on the Length of the Greek Foot

205  Preface
209  Essay on the History of Architecture
236  Part 1. The Ruins of the Monuments Erected by the Athenians before the End of the Age of Pericles, Historically Considered 309  Part 2. The Ruins of the Monuments Erected by the Athenians before the End of the Age of Pericles and Alexander, Architecturally Considered

Volume Two, Which Contains the Ruins of the Monuments Erected by the Athenians after the End of the Age of Pericles and the Antiquities of Corinth and Sparta; with an Essay on the Theory of Architecture, and a Dissertation on the Length of the Course at Olympia

367  Essay on the Theory of Architecture
387  Part 1. The Ruins of the Monuments Erected by the Athenians after the End of the Age of Pericles, Historically Considered; with the Antiquities of Corinth and Sparta
473  Part 2. The Ruins of the Monuments Erected by the Athenians after the End of the Age of Pericles, Architecturally Considered; with a Description of Two Temples, One at Pola, the Other at Corinth

501  Works by Le Roy
507  Works Cited by Le Roy
518  Prospectus
522  Comparison of Editions
530  Illustration Credits
532  Index