Greetings from the Getty Vocabulary Program. In this quarter, processing of contributions included the following: In AAT, we continued processing of the CHIN contribution including French terms; added ATTCAT contributions for Chinese architecture terms, contributions from AATA for GCI, from ANET, from Dutch textile project, from Getty Scholars, and from Getty Museum. In ULAN we processed contributions from the RKD, GRI Special Collections JPC, Getty Museum, and BWR architects. For TGN, we added a small number of records from GCI, BWR, and others. In CONA, we processed BWR built works (from BWR members Avery, ARTstor, GRI, AIIS, Bryn Mawr, Princeton, Cornell, Harvard, Blair Bloom, HCAP, LoC CAS, SAHARA, UCSD, WMF, UTLong, ArtOnFile). For IA, we added a small number of records, from the BWR contribution, and others. We continue to consult with potential contributors whose contribution would be within scope and meets the priorities of our mission. This quarter, discussions included the Smithsonian, in Korea, in Singapore, tribal names, ancient Middle Eastern cultures, and textile techniques. See our list of contributors.

The Getty Vocabularies remain the most heavily-used resource on the Getty Research Institute online pages. In the map below, you can see the distribution of our users globally for this quarter. This map represents users of our online search interface: 1.8 million views from 79,000 unique users for this quarter. Not counted here are the users who access the Vocabularies via LOD and other data formats, or who access the Vocabularies from vendors’ systems or other Web sites that post the Getty Vocabularies.

In other news: We conducted presentations, including on the topic of diversity, at the Autry Museum for Mimsy users and at UCLA. Making the Vocabularies more multilingual, multicultural, diverse, unbiased, and inclusive remains one of our primary goals. One of us (Jon) continued work as an officer in CIDOC and as a member of ISKO. Our team drafted a mapping of AAT, ULAN and TGN to MARC authorities, hoping to provide a conversion from one of the regular Vocabulary releases to MARC format, to serve implementers and other users who require MARC. In the arena of metadata, with colleagues at GRI, we participated in a workshop and are undertaking a study to improve metadata communication; we hope to demonstrate that the multilingual terms and rich data of the Getty Vocabularies can function as the glue joining varied and separate resources, regardless of language or domain.

For developers: Note that the Vocab LOD site (vocab.getty.edu) offers 2 modeling options for consumers of Getty Vocabularies URIs: the original Vocab LOD SKOS/Schema.org model and the new Linked.Art modeled Vocabularies data for JSON and JSON-LD. See this page for details: http://vocab.getty.edu/ChangestoVocabLOD

For end users: Would you like to clean messy data and reconcile your terminology to the Getty Vocabularies' records? Consider the helpful OpenRefine Reconciliation Service, which has received improvements some months ago: 1) The displays for matched results, particularly for TGN, have been improved to allow you to more easily disambiguate among results. 2) A new “data extend feature” was added, that allows users to grab additional fielded information from Vocabulary records, based on the reconciled term/record. For example, if you’re reconciling ULAN names, you could also grab the variant terms in a separate field, biographies, roles, and nationality/cultures. See https://www.getty.edu/research/tools/vocabularies/obtain/openrefine.html.

Would you like to access the rich data of the Vocabularies via over 90 interesting sample queries? Please visit the SPARQL end point here: http://vocab.getty.edu/doc/queries/.

Contributing: What terminology and associated information may be contributed to the Getty Vocabularies? See scope of AAT, scope of ULAN, scope of TGN, scope of CONA, scope of IA. If you represent an institution interested in making contributions, please learn about the Letter of Agreement and the process for proposing contributions here: https://www.getty.edu/research/tools/vocabularies/contribute.html. If you represent a scholarly project or are a scholar or other expert who is collecting vocabulary data that you would like to share with the larger community, please contact us about a possible contribution at vocab@getty.edu. Contributions are considered based on our capacity, mission, and priorities.

Records that Became Newly Available in Recent Periods

January-March 2023

Greetings from the Getty Vocabulary Program. In this quarter, processing of contributions included the following: In AAT, we continued processing of the CHIN contribution including French terms; added ATTCAT contribution for Chinese architecture terms; added contributions from AATA for GCI; made edits for the Dutch translation; added terms for the Dutch textile project; added Arabic contribution from the AlUla project. In ULAN we added contributions from Getty Conservation Institute (GCI); continued processing of the RKD artist contribution; checked information for LGBTQ artists in ULAN; added Indian artists from the O-Foundation; worked on processing of GRI Special Collections contributions for the Szewmann collection; worked extensively with correcting names and other data in ULAN for East Asian artists; processed artists from the BWR (Built Works Registry) contribution to CONA. For TGN, we added records from NGA for the nation of Canada; completed the swap-out of place names in TGN that are derogatory and considered “avoid use” terms; processed place names from the BWR contribution to CONA. In CONA, we did extensive processing of the BWR contribution (from BWR members Avery, ARTstor, GRI, AIIS, Bryn Mawr, Princeton, Cornell, Harvard, Blair Bloom, HCAP, LoC CAS, SAHARA, UCSD, WMF, UTLong, ArtOnFile), notably for rock-cut structures, temples, university and other public buildings. For IA, terms were added from the BWR contribution to CONA, and others.

In other news: We conducted several presentations, meetings, and papers on topics of diversity, including at the OCLC Cataloging Community Meeting. Making the Vocabularies more multilingual, multicultural, diverse, unbiased, and inclusive remains one of our primary goals. On other topics, presentations included training #2 for cataloging using CDWA and Getty Vocabularies for the Louvre Abu Dhabi, focused on prints, manuscripts, photographs, and drawings. We presented at the subject analysis committee (SAC) of ALA. We investigated working with contributors to update tribal names and other multicultural terminology. One of us (Jon) continued work as an officer in CIDOC and as a member of ISKO. We drafted a mapping of AAT, ULAN and TGN to MARC authorities, with the hope to eventually provide a conversion from one of the regular Vocabulary releases to MARC format, to serve implementers and other users who require MARC. In the arena of metadata, with colleagues at GRI, we are undertaking a study to improve metadata communication; we hope to demonstrate that the multilingual terms and rich data of the Getty Vocabularies can function as the glue joining varied and separate resources, regardless of language or domain.

October-December 2022: Congratulations! Recent anniversaries with the Vocabulary Program: Jon Ward, 20 years, and Robin Johnson, 25 years. A former Getty graduate intern recently published an article: Camila Aparecida da Silva, "The Ongoing Translation of the Getty Art & Architecture Thesaurus® into Portuguese: An Art Information Access and Retrieval Tool for Cultural Institutions in Portuguese-Speaking Countries." Getty Research Journal Vol 16 2022, pp. 209–225. We continued with our mission and goals to make the Vocabularies more multilingual, multicultural, diverse, and inclusive. We conducted several presentations, meetings, and papers on these topics, including at a NKOS virtual conference on Equity and Inclusion and Getty Vocabularies (https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=7KmDO_mrDOA&t=11s and https://www.getty.edu/research/tools/vocabularies/Vocabs_unbiased_terminology.pdf ), and at Consortium of Online Digital Arts regarding using Getty Vocabularies in a federated environment (https://www.getty.edu/research/tools/vocabularies/vocabularies_federated_searching.pdf ).

We met with various potential contributors, with the caveat that contributions may be slowed or in hiatus due to system development in the coming months. Among others, included were projects regarding potential AAT and ULAN contributions in Arabic, German, and Korean.

Recently met with WHG re. general historical places' topics, and with a project to contribute historical German place names. We began preliminary discussions for a possible ITWG (International Terminology Group) meeting at Getty, possibly in October 2024. In ongoing Getty initiatives, we participated in Unconscious Bias in the Workplace and Antiracist sessions. Responding to requirements of the user community, we began considering strategies to deliver MARC or a transform from an existing release into MARC, to allow regular Vocabulary contributions to VIAF and ExLibris' Alma Refine. We began designing a survey of Vocabulary users to inform us how Getty Vocabularies are used, and how the content, accessibility, and usability could be improved. We continued work on a metadata triangulation project with the Getty Provenance Index, having the goal to use the Getty Vocabularies at our SPARQL end point to conduct retrieval based on the Vocabularies' rich data, demonstrating how we could advance serious research and discovery in Art History.

Periodic lists of terms newly added to the Getty Vocabularies http://www.getty.edu/research/tools/vocabularies/index.html
For the period January-June 2021

From the Getty Vocabulary Program, we send greetings and hope that you are well. Here in Los Angeles, we are beginning to come back to the Getty offices slowly, after many months working from home.

After our work-from-home period, we happily find ourselves at a significant milestone: We have essentially cleared out hundreds of thousands of backlogged contributions to the Vocabularies! With consultants at Ontotext and our colleagues at Getty Digital for technical support, the Vocabulary Program editors focused on pre-processing data in Excel and in OpenRefine (https://www.getty.edu/research/tools/vocabularies/obtain/openrefine.html). Details about new data loads to each Vocabulary appear below.

While we have had a moratorium on new contributions while working on the backlog, we may now begin to accept proposals for new contributions. Learn about the Letter of Agreement, the scope of each Vocabulary, and procedures for proposing contributions here: https://www.getty.edu/research/tools/vocabularies/contribute.html

A primary goal is to make the Getty Vocabularies ever more multicultural, multilingual, and inclusive. We have undertaken a study to identify content lacunae in the Vocabularies, which we will target according to our strategic plan in the coming months.

Our user statistics have remained consistently high during this period, making the Getty Vocabularies (https://www.getty.edu/research/tools/vocabularies/index.html) the most used resources on the GRI site.

Total searches in FY21, July 2020-June 2021: Q1:566,228, Q2:360,194; Q3 616,048; Q4:612,074

Use of the APIs, LOD, Relation Tables, and XML formats was also high during this period. The data is refreshed monthly. You may access the data through links on this page: https://www.getty.edu/research/tools/vocabularies/obtain/index.html

This document is intended for the general information of Getty Vocabulary end users, demonstrating the additions to the Getty Vocabularies over a given period of time, including new records and previous candidates processed during the period indicated. NB: Full lists of bulk loads are not included in this report, only selected samples.

The Getty Vocabularies grow and change due to contributions from the user community, vetted and curated by the Getty Vocabulary Program editors with technical support from Getty Digital. For detailed information about the full Revision History of vocabulary records, including moves in the hierarchy, edits to scope notes, additions of translated terms, additions of associative relationships, or changes to terms within existing records, programmers should see the Revision History in the data releases, available through the Getty web services http://www.getty.edu/research/tools/vocabularies/vocab_web_services.pdf

GVP did not focus on IA contributions during this period. Almost all new IA contributions here are associated with pre-processing the backlogged files for CONA, particularly the BWR “dedicatees,” which were submitted as associated “people” but are out of scope for ULAN, because they are deities or otherwise not real people. Graduate interns also worked in IA. During this period, GVP has had conversations about contributions to IA, including possible non-Western iconography from the University of Sapienza. IA is a unique resource, a thesaurus, global in scope, with complex relationships and links to the other 4 Getty Vocabularies. It also includes confederates to other resources such as Iconclass and LOC, to allow interconnections between related materials and related disciplines. See scope of IA. Backlogged files now processed and or-in-process:

- IA Florentine Codex Initiative, sample records were entered by hand
- IA BWR associated entities for CONA contribution
