Newsletter: New records in the Getty Vocabularies
For the period July-September 2022

Greetings from the Getty Vocabulary Program. In the last quarter, processing of contributions has included data from the following: American Institute of Indian Architecture for AAT and IA, Missouri Remembers artists from the Nelson-Atkins and others, Österreichische Galerie Belvedere artists, and RKD artist records in ULAN; AAT translations in Chinese, Dutch, and French; Nomenclature/CHIN terms in AAT; and records from the Built Works Registry and an Ansel Adams project for CONA. In TGN important work is ongoing to correct preferences and to flag place names that are outdated and pejorative, thus should be avoided in new indexing (though the older names remain available for retrieval). Read more about recent contributions here: https://www.getty.edu/research/tools/vocabularies/guidelines/aat_monthly_new_recs.pdf

We continue with our mission and strategic plan to make the Vocabularies more multilingual, multicultural, diverse, and inclusive. As during last quarter, in the past few months we have again presented in several venues on the topic of unbiased and inclusive terminology. For issues regarding these topics, see the presentation here: https://www.getty.edu/research/tools/vocabularies/Vocabs_unbiased_terminology.pdf. We have also focused on training re. how to use CDWA (Categories for the Description of Works of Art) as cataloging guidelines. See https://www.getty.edu/research/publications/electronic_publications/cdwa/ and https://www.getty.edu/research/tools/vocabularies/cdwa_vocab_workshop.pdf.

Under consideration: We are exploring the possibility of a survey to illuminate how the Getty Vocabularies are being used by our various audiences: developers, repository institutions, catalogers, casual researchers, and by scholars in the field (see https://www.getty.edu/research/tools/vocabularies/vocabs_in_the_field.pdf). We are also considering a demonstration project to illustrate how the rich data of the Vocabularies may be exploited for research and discovery across different data sets for objects, provenance, or other areas of research. To access the data of the Vocabularies via over 90 interesting sample queries, please visit the SPARQL end point here: http://vocab.getty.edu/doc/queries/.

For developers: Note that the Vocab LOD site (vocab.getty.edu) now offers 2 modeling options for consumers of Getty Vocabularies URIs: the original Vocab LOD SKOS/Schema.org model and the new Linked.Art modeled Vocabularies data for JSON and JSON-LD. See this page for details: http://vocab.getty.edu/ChangestoVocabLOD
For end users: Would you like to clean messy data and reconcile your terminology to the Getty Vocabularies’ records? Consider the helpful OpenRefine Reconciliation Service, which has received improvements a few months ago: 1) The displays for matched results, particularly for TGN, have been improved to allow you to more easily disambiguate among results. 2) A new “data extend feature” was added, that allows users to grab additional fielded information from Vocabulary records, based on the reconciled term/record. For example, if you’re reconciling ULAN names, you could also grab the variant terms in a separate field, biographies, roles, and nationality/cultures. See https://www.getty.edu/research/tools/vocabularies/obtain/openrefine.html

Contributing: What terminology and associated information may be contributed to the Getty Vocabularies? See scope of AAT, scope of ULAN, scope of TGN, scope of CONA, scope of IA. If you represent an institution interested in making contributions, please learn about the Letter of Agreement, the scope of each Vocabulary, and procedures for proposing contributions here: https://www.getty.edu/research/tools/vocabularies/contribute.html. If you represent a scholarly project or are a scholar or other expert who is collecting vocabulary data that you would like to share with the larger community, please contact us about a possible contribution at vocab@getty.edu

Below are examples of Getty Vocabulary records newly made publicly available during the last quarter, July-September 2022.

For the period January-June 2021

From the Getty Vocabulary Program, we send greetings and are hopeful that you are well. Here in Los Angeles, we are beginning to come back to the Getty offices slowly, after many months working from home.

After our work-from-home period, we happily find ourselves at a significant milestone: We have essentially cleared out hundreds of thousands of backlogged contributions to the Vocabularies!

With consultants at Ontotext and our colleagues at Getty Digital for technical support, the Vocabulary Program editors focused on pre-processing data in Excel and in Open Refine (https://www.getty.edu/research/tools/vocabularies/obtain/openrefine.html). Details about new data loads to each Vocabulary appear below.

While we have had a moratorium on new contributions while working on the backlog, we may now begin to accept proposals for new contributions. Learn about the Letter of Agreement, the scope of each Vocabulary, and procedures for proposing contributions here: https://www.getty.edu/research/tools/vocabularies/contribute.html

A primary goal is to make the Getty Vocabularies ever more multicultural, multilingual, and inclusive. We have undertaken a study to identify content lacunae in the Vocabularies, which we will target according to our strategic plan in the coming months.

Our user statistics have remained consistently high during this period, making the Getty Vocabularies (https://www.getty.edu/research/tools/vocabularies/index.html) the most used resources on the GRI site.

Total searches in FY21, July 2020-June 2021: Q1:566,228, Q2:360,194; Q3:616,048; Q4:612,074

Use of the APIs, LOD, Relational Tables, and XML formats was also high during this period. The data is refreshed monthly. You may access the data through links on this page: https://www.getty.edu/research/tools/vocabularies/obtain/index.html

This document is intended for the general information of Getty Vocabulary end users, demonstrating the additions to the Getty Vocabularies over a given period of time, including new records and previous candidates processed during the period indicated. NB: Full lists of bulk loads are not included in this report, only selected samples.

The Getty Vocabularies grow and change due to contributions from the user community, vetted and curated by the Getty Vocabulary Program editors with technical support from Getty Digital. For detailed information about the full Revision History of vocabulary records, including moves in the hierarchy, edits to scope notes, additions of translated terms, additions of associative relationships, or changes to terms within existing records, programmers should see the Revision History in the data releases, available through the Getty web services http://www.getty.edu/research/tools/vocabularies/vocab_web_services.pdf
In addition to pre-processing the backlogged files as listed below, included in editorial work for AAT was processing a) records that had already been added to VCS (Vocabulary Coordination System, our editorial system) and b) records entered by hand in VCS. Highlights of tasks during this period include work on English and French terms from the CHIN/Nomenclature project, updates to Dutch translations, terms from the Getty Conservation Institute, terms and Scope Notes for the Chilean Spanish translation project, terms from Traditional Chinese Architecture project, German role terms from the Belvedere Galleries artist contribution, consultations with the German translation team in Berlin, Chinese terms from Academia Sinica; work types, materials, styles, and techniques from the Built Works Registry CONA contribution; various roles and cultures required for RKD and Belvedere ULAN loads; terms from the Getty Conservation Institute AATA, work by graduate interns at Getty, and various smaller contributions from the online contribution form. Meetings and discussions with outside colleagues included topics such as terminology for race and gender identity, Native American and First Nations culture names, and terms for Maya materials. See scope of AAT. Backlogged files now processed or in-process:

- AAT European Fashion Heritage Association EFHA, 479 records, 7 languages
- AAT Florentine Codex Initiative, GRI-FloCo
- AAT Portuguese CVAABR

CONA: Added January-June 2021

Total records 1 July 2021, including pending BWR: 76,787 records

Total existing records augmented this period: 348

Total new records this period: 68,100, examples below.

In addition to pre-processing the backlogged files as listed below, included in editorial work for CONA was a small amount of processing a) records that had already been added to VCS (Vocabulary Coordination System, our editorial system) and b) records entered by hand in VCS. Highlights of tasks during this period include ancient structures, built works needed as broader contexts for other contributions, work by graduate interns at Getty, and records added for disambiguation of new contributions. See scope of CONA. Backlogged files now processed or in-process:

- CONA Florentine Codex Initiative, sample records in preparation for future loads

IA: Added January-June 2021
Total records 1 July 2021, ca. 6,413 records
Total IA titles/names: [ca. 8,000]
Total existing records augmented this period: 20
Total new records this period: 59, examples below.

GVP did not focus on IA contributions during this period. Almost all new IA contributions here are associated with pre-processing the backlogged files for CONA, particularly the BWR “dedicatees,” which were submitted as associated “people” but are out of scope for ULAN, because they are deities or otherwise not real people. Graduate interns also worked in IA. During this period, GVP has had conversations about contributions to IA, including possible non-Western iconography from the University of Sapienza. IA is a unique resource, a thesaurus, global in scope, with complex relationships and links to the other 4 Getty Vocabularies. It also includes coreferences to other resources such as Iconclass and LOC, to allow interconnections between related materials and related disciplines. See scope of IA. Backlogged files now processed or in-process:

- IA Florentine Codex Initiative, sample records were entered by hand
- IA BWR associated entities for CONA contribution
